

Student Affairs Graduate Programs

- ▶ Master of Arts (MA) in Student Affairs
- ▶ Dual Degree: MA in Student Affairs and MS in Professional Counseling

Degree options

+ Master of Arts in Student Affairs

36-credit program includes counseling and student affairs coursework as well as electives and 1-2 internships. Students may take electives in counseling, digital learning, and the MBA program. This degree prepares students to pursue a career in any student affairs area except positions in a counseling center that require a counseling degree and licensure.

+ Dual degree: MA in Student Affairs and MS in professional counseling

63-credit program prepares students to pursue licensure and work in a college counseling center, other areas of student affairs, and other professional counseling positions. Students complete one semester of practicum and two semesters of internship.

Graduate Assistantships

Graduate assistant positions are available in several student affairs, administrative, and academic departments on campus.

Social Justice and Relational Practice Foundation

Social justice is woven throughout our curriculum and is at the core of Carlow's mission. Through your coursework you will engage with long-standing and currently-pressing social justice issues. You will explore these topics and your role as an activist within higher education through reflection, class projects, and the mini-conference poster session.

In addition, throughout your Carlow studies you will explore student affairs as a relational practice. Growth-fostering interactions and relationships are the heart of student affairs work.
